

BUDDHA HEAD ILLUMINATED SCULPTURE

The Buddha Head Illuminated Sculpture exhibits the same attributes as a piece of authentic antique statuary, but the sacred totem is not carved from wood that has aged over time, it is made of composite with a surface patina that convinces the eye it was carved in the Far East ions ago. Anyone looking to bring a hint of texture to a space will appreciate the skillful stippling that makes this brownish gray sculpture read like its surface is weatherworn. A fitting decorative accessory for a yoga studio or spa, this sculpture would also bring a soulfulness to a handsome library or any room begging for a sacred ornament. This piece is the perfect representation of the Phillips Collection ethos: modern organic.
