

POLKA DOT WALL TILE

Silver

Slightly irregular holes are cut from metal to create our Silver Polka Dot Wall Tile, which was affectionately named for the array of openings. An interesting design element of note is how the tile bends slightly out from the wall, which creates a shadowy effect that moves along the wall with the progress of natural light. These silver sculptures look smashing hung in a gallery installation, the textural interplay of their surfaces worthy of an accent wall arrangement. The looseness of the pattern and the contemporary feel of this decorative element makes this ideal for the modern organic ethos for which Phillips Collection is renowned.
