

SPLIT THE DIFFERENCE COFFEE TABLE

Char

Plate tectonics: a natural force so powerful, it shapes the very ground we stand on. Phillips Collection's Split the Difference Coffee Table in Char simulates a solid chunk of lava stone being torn asunder from the constant friction of tectonic plates located far below the Earth's crust. Made from a combination of resin and crushed stone then finished in a striking black, this elemental statement piece is beautifully contrasted with a remarkable chrome-finished stainless steel surface that delivers a modern take on this naturally inspired motif. This earth-shaking table is divided into two pieces that can be conjoined into one whole, or left as two separate tables depending on your design preference.
