

RIPPLE PLANTER

Gel Coat Black

Any designer will affirm the importance of texture in a space, which makes the Phillips Collection Ripple Planters a favorite. The Black Ripple Planter is made of composite in a gel coat finish that makes it perfect for use both indoors and outdoors. The indentations lining the surface of the planter are reminiscent of the natural ebb and flow of a body of water. We also offer this planter in a gel coat white finish, both of which reflect the ethos that Phillips Collection personifies: modern organic.
