every piece a conversation

If you've ever tried to move a stump of petrified wood yourself, you probably already know that it's no easy feat! To make it more manageable, we've gone ahead and cast some of our personal favorites from actual pieces we've sourced. To preserve the integrity of the originals, these pieces are weighted but you can still move them around and there is consistency in appearance. Phillips can now do what nature cannot by offering you repeatable items in four different variations.
