

OLD POLE MAN STATUE

Abstract art is a wonderful vehicle for communicating the human condition. The Old Pole Man Statue is a statue crafted from natural wood that illustrates the undeniable connection between man and Nature. Wood is a living, breathing organism just like we are; this is proven in how the natural growth patterns of the piece simulate the subtle, unique curvature present in the human body. The way in which the human form seems to be growing from the black iron base as if it were a tree is a delightful touch and is sure to make this piece a strong conversation starter within your space.
